"My husband made the coffee table out of an old door."

There is no scrap wood in my shop, just pieces I haven't used yet. In these stuff times of social distancing and isolation; it's nice to have a shop full of power tools and wood. I just bought some rough sawn oak and walnut from Kevin in Gilbertville. Steve Crouse and Dave Turner are helping me slice it into thinner sheets. Thanks guys for your help. That's the nice thing about our organization; helping and working with each other, making friends and laughing together. Sharing our woodworking with each other is so much better than doing it alone.

The following is a note I put with all my woodworking gifts. It can be modified if it's something I sold. Feel free to use it.

When you are given something from me,
a woodworker; you're receiving more than an object.

You're getting hundreds of hours of errors
and experimentation.

You're getting years of frustration and moments of pure joy.

You're not getting just one thing. You're getting a piece of my heart,
a small piece of my life.

(signed)

If nailing it won't work, then screw it.

Milo

Old Business:

Input on Waterloo Fire Department Program:

Very informative and the tour to the main fire station was excellent.

Website: Issue with the updates on the website being only the day before the meeting and history on the website.

Gift ideas for the upcoming Christmas party:

Dennis Gilroy brought an example that was very well received, as was the idea that Dave Turner suggested.

New Business:

Thank You notes to:

Waterloo Fire Department

Jeanine Begalske for doing our taxes
