August

I was just reflecting on my woodworking for the past few months. Other than a few small items, my woodworking has been to help others. I find that to be very rewarding. Milo Mead and I had parts of 10 days making a mantel for a house. Ed Kugel was updating a house for a friend and Milo and I did the Mantel. Terry Burds was our quality control person. She helped us with sanding, staining and applying polyurethane. That was followed by helping my friend with repairs on his deck. We replaced part of a railing and some deck boards. Ted and Sally Boger had antique table leaves that we separating at glue joints. Note! I think my knee and back joints have the same issue. We sawed thru the failing glue lines, then jointed the pieces, and reglued. After some belt sanding the leaves looked great. Other work was a base for Milo's clock and some quick bandsaw work for Dan Risse.

Be sure and sign up for the Sunday Sept 11th Picnic. This is being held at Mark and Teddy Widdel's farm. Dennis Gilroy and Mark are planning a great time for all. They need a good head count to arrange tables, chairs, food, etc.

Reed Craft needs items to show at Cattle Congress. This is a place to show your work. I have shown items in the past years. Last year Terry and I used our free ticket to attend C.C. It was a great display of CVWA talents. We also enjoyed other areas of the fair. Especially seeing the animals including llamas).

Milo Mead, Terry and I are getting ready for the Midwest Scroll Saw & Woodworking Trade Show. That is held on Aug 5 / 6 at the Dubuque County Fairgrounds. 2 of use will take Milo's clock over on Thursday 4 August to set it up. 3 of us will return on Saturday 6 August to attend classes and to see the displays. As 3 of us are going on Saturday, Milo's large clock forces the use of 2 vehicles. NOTE! we have space for 3 more to ride over. Let me know if you are interested (phone 319-230-3447. If I don't answer leave a message). Entry cost is $10.

Our next meeting is August 9th.
